Canary Trap's Incident Response Retainer Services tailored to your business

SERVICE OVERVIEW

An Incident Response Plan aims to help organizations mitigate the risks associated with a data breach or significant security incident.

Security breaches often result in disruption to business continuity, data theft, financial and reputational loss. In the event of a security breach, organizations are wise to have an Incident Response Retainer in place with a trusted service provider who can help to deal with event expediently and professionally.

Canary Trap can be engaged to assess your environment and assemble a truly bespoke Incident Response Plan that aligns to your organizations culture and capabilities. Canary Trap can also offer an Incident Response Retainer available 24/7 and backed by competitive Service Level Agreements.

Our unique approach combines real-world adversarial intelligence, human intelligence and world-class technology to help mitigate the risks associated with a security breach.
