INCIDENT MANAGEMENT PLANNING

Helping you manage security incidents effectively and efficiently.

SERVICE OVERVIEW

Incident management planning aims to establish the proper set of documented policies and playbooks that are customized to best fit the organizational structure, company culture and operations.

Playbooks are processes which are comprised of graphical flowcharts and narratives in textual form. They guide business stakeholders on how to respond in the event of a security incident. Playbooks also provide business stakeholders with a clear guide on how to get to resolution effectively and efficiently. Motivations underlying the need to implement incident management planning include, but are not limited to:

- ✓ Insurance requirements
- ✓ Compliance requirements
- ✓ Customer/contract requirements
- ✓ Proper awareness, preparation and support of key business stakeholders

Canary Trap's approach to incident management planning combines several activities to ensure a robust engagement:

- Interviewing key business stakeholders
- Defining key requirements
- Reviewing all existing documents, processes, contracts, and policies
- Writing the core policy
- Designing the playbooks
- Writing the narratives
- Tabletop exercise

Canary Trap combines human expertise with sophisticated tools, proven methodologies and, where appropriate, threat intelligence to ensure a thorough, in-depth approach to security testing and assessments.
